FIVE CENTS

Delay Granted To Five Toll Bridge Officers

NEWTOWN, Aug. 10 (AP)—Justice of the Peace Leon H. Milnor said today five former officials of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission have been granted a two-day delay in their arraignment on charges they "conspired to cheat and defraud" the commission.

Milnor said the hearing, originally set for next Monday, instead will be held in his office next Wednesday. The delay was granted, he added, to give the five more time to prepare.

The five, free now in $2,500 bail each, are former commissioners Leslie Brown of Trenton, N. J.; Alexander R. Miller, of Easton, Pa.; and R. Chapman Carver of Ivyland, Pa., and former commission employees Robert A. Haney of Trenton, and W. Willard Schwab of Levittown, Pa.

Investigation
The charges were filed against the five as an aftermath of an investigation of the commission's operation. They were announced jointly by Govs. Leader of Pennsylvania and Meyner of New Jersey.

Among the charges was one that Carver erred in paying $715 in commission funds to Mrs. Tony Brandt, of Treddlyffryn Twp., Chester County, Pa., for alleged stenographic services. Mrs. Brandt, curvaceous blonde, is a strip tease who bills herself for night club appearances as "Miss TNT from Gay Paree."

Britain Puts Brakes On Military Power

LONDON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Britain tonight braked her build-up of military power in the Middle East under mounting pressure for a peaceful settlement of the Suez Canal crisis.

The slowdown came as Western diplomats spread the word of an American-British-French plan to guarantee the freedom and international control of the waterway as part of a compromise settlement with Egypt.

The plan envisages a new international treaty to govern the use of Suez and conditional recognition of Egypt's nationalization of the canal and its installations.

Postponement
Prime Minister Eden and his military chiefs ordered a second postponement of a mammoth trooplift to the Mediterranean, then announced withdrawal of two parachute battalions from Cyprus, Britain's Middle East military headquarters.

The official war office explanation was that the parachute troops are coming home to continue their training, for which better facilities are available here than on Cyprus.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser's Egyptian regime meantime challenged Britain's right to have called next week's London conference on the Suez dispute, and "charged" Eden is trying to belittle Nasser in the eyes of the Egyptian people.

Kennedy Will Accept

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said today he would accept the Democratic vice presidential nomination "if I am asked" but added he was not actively seeking the post.

Kennedy made the statement at La Guardia Field as he was about to fly to Chicago where he will head the Massachusetts delegation at the convention.

Kennedy has been mentioned as a possible Democratic vice presidential nominee.

Hopeful
Asked if he thought his Roman Catholic faith might affect his chances, Kennedy replied: "I would hope that it would not have any effect one way or another."

Another leading Catholic office holder, Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York said today "it's a myth" that a Roman Catholic would hurt the presidential ticket. Wagner also has been mentioned for the vice presidential post. He said it "would be a fine honor."

$1,000 Damage Results As Trailer Upsets

CLOSE to $1,000 damage was caused yesterday morning when a trailer loaded with 10 tons of hay overturned near the foot of Foxtown Hill.

Stroudsburg Borough Police said Boyd Carlin, 25, of New Milford, was driving his rig south on Route 611 at 6:35 a.m. when the trailer coupling snapped as he was making the turn to go up Foxtown Hill.

The trailer turned over on its side in front of the home of Alfred Schoch at 26 Morningside Ave., police said. The hay was hauled away by another truck yesterday afternoon.

Civil Rights Remains Key To Platform

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—Democratic platform drafters, trying to hold steam below the blowoff point heard demands today for adoption of a strong civil rights plank and a Dixie warning this would cost the party the election.

The strategy through hours of hearings all was aimed at stopping any big North-South civil rights row before it could start. For today, it worked.

Tomorrow could be different. Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. of South Carolina will be back then for more testimony and questioning by a Negro member of the Platform Committee, Belford V. Lawson of Washington, D.C.

Warning
It was Timmerman who warned today of a Dixie bolt and loss of the election to the GOP if the Democrats insist on backing at next week's National Convention the Supreme Court's decision barring segregation in public schools.

The governor, a leader in marshaling Southern opposition to the court decision, took the witness chair after the Platform Committee had heard insistent demands union leaders and others urging a strong civil rights stand. He said:

"A profederal civil rights plank infringing upon the constitutional rights of the states and their people, a prointegration plank, or any approval of the school desegregation decision will insure a Democratic defeat in November."

"It would be an outright endorsement of the Republican administration."

Timmerman reminded the committee that four normally Democratic states, Virginia, Florida, Texas, and Tennessee, had voted Republican four years ago while "eight Democratic Southern states remained loyal to the party at the ballot box." He added: "If the party repudiates them now, they may repudiate the party."

"I do not see," Timmerman said, "how the national Democratic party can expect to win in November without the Southern states."

Cooling-off efforts in the platform committee were led by Southern members. They refrained from firing at Northern witnesses demanding a school desegregation plank questions that might have touched off explosive debate.

Witnesses
The hold-down was helped along by sandwiching witnesses backing less controversial measures between those advocating party endorsement of the Supreme Court desegregation edict.

How long the truce would last was uncertain. Many witnesses still were to be heard. Plans to wind up the hearings today had to be junked. Now they are going over into tomorrow.

Hurricane Developing

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 10 (AP)—The first hurricane of the year developed in the Atlantic today and hurricane warnings were posted in most of the Windward and Leeward islands.

Hurricane Betsy packed winds of 120 miles an hour near its center. Gales extended north 125 miles and south 65 miles. Some further increase in intensity is expected.

The first storm of the year, Anna, was a July 26 disturbance in the southwest Gulf of Mexico. It moved into Mexico before developing hurricane winds.

BALES OF HAY topple from this trailer which overturned yesterday morning near the foot of Foxtown Hill after a coupling snapped, freeing the tractor from the rest of the rigging. Stroudsburg Police estimated damage at between $800 to $1,000. The driver was identified as Boyd Carlin, 25, New Milford, Pa. It's hay, but the driver wasn't bailing it. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Truman Sets Time For Selection Of Candidates

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—Harry S. Truman turned tantalizing aphorism today to keep pacesetter Adlai E. Stevenson and Averell Harriman guessing uneasily on his choice for the Democratic presidential nomination.

From the Stevenson camp came one report that Truman had decided Harriman is his man, but Stevenson backers said he had it in the bag, regardless.

Stevenson himself told reporters that yes, he thinks he can capture the nomination at next week's Democratic National Convention with or without Truman's support. His campaign manager, James E. Finnegan, exuded equal optimism. Truman apparently made up his mind definitely today on the person to embrace in the intriguing game of political post office whirling merrily through convention preliminaries.

But the former President wasn't saying yet. He did set the time and place for announcing his preference—a 2:30 p.m. EST news conference tomorrow.

Among other preconvention highlights:

Second Place
Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee hit town—no longer a presidential aspirant but thinking about a second place spot on the party ticket. He told questioners at the airport he "probably would accept" the vice-presidential nomination if he got the chance, but that he wasn't running for it.

The Wisconsin state Democratic chairman, Philo Nash, spoke up for Harriman's nomination in a public statement. A former administrative assistant to Truman, Nash said the choice is between "moderation in the interests of party unity" and a "vigorous program of human betterment inviting the widest possible support."

Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina, another arrival on the convention scene, called Stevenson a "good man" but wouldn't say whether he would support him actively. He said he still was "a little shocked" by Stevenson's call Tuesday for an "unequivocal" endorsement by the party platform of the Supreme Court decision banning racial segregation in public schools.

Democratic platform drafters tied into the potentially explosive segregation-civil rights issue, but managed to maintain comparative calm.

But attention focused mainly on Presidential hopefuls and their supporters, who ardently wooed Truman's support in pilgrimages to his fifth-floor suite in the Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel.

Stevenson made it in first. He and Truman stretched what was heralded as a 10-minute visit to a half-hour talk. It was their second get-together in two days.

There was nothing to indicate it was anything but cordial—or that Stevenson got the word from Truman on the latter's presidential choice.

"I feel just as good today as I did yesterday and the day before," Stevenson assured newsmen, camping in the corridor.

To a question as to what he and Truman discussed, Stevenson flipped back word that "we decided to elect a Democratic president."

Harriman came to town today bearing new victory claims, held a news conference that produced pokes at Stevenson and the Eisenhower administration, then joined the procession of Truman callers.

The 10-minute Truman-Harriman meeting flowed with cordiality, too.

Pope Grants Dispensation
VATICAN CITY, Aug. 10 (AP)—Pope Pius XII today dispensed Roman Catholics throughout the world from regulations of fast and abstinence Aug. 14, the day before the Feast of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Fasting is customary before major church feast days. A Vatican spokesman said the dispensation was made on the request of bishops from many parts of the world, but he gave no reasons for the request.

LEWES, Del., Aug. 10 (AP)—Eight seamen were badly burned today in an explosion on the inbound German freighter Heidelberg at the mouth of Delaware Bay.

Fireworks Develop On Election Front

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower provided some election-year fireworks today by vetoing a bill which would have authorized $1,600,000,000 in flood control and rivers and harbors development.

Without using the term "pork barrel," the President criticized some provisions of the measure—which contained pet projects of many congressmen—as "not in the public interest."

It was the first veto of a rivers and harbors authorization bill since President Franklin D. Roosevelt killed a similar measure in 1940, and likely will produce considerable congressional grumbling.

The President said he regretted the action. The bill carried authorizations for 90 projects or project modifications, and 14 river basin improvements. As an authorization bill, it merely would have written into law authority for the projects—the money has not yet been appropriated. Work could not have started anyway until after the next Congress provided the funds.

Statement
Eisenhower's veto statement said:

"While the majority of the projects which this bill would authorize have been given adequate study and review with the executive branch and by the affected states, there are still a large number which have not been reviewed in accordance with the orderly procedures set forth in the applicable laws."

"Therefore, it is not possible at this time for me to determine whether their authorization would be in the public interest. Still others have, after review, been found to be not in the public interest."

Early congressional reaction showed signs of following party lines.

Sen. Chavez (D-NM) said he was "extremely disappointed" in the veto. He predicted the next session will quickly re-enact the measure.

"There are many worthy projects in the bill, nonpolitical but of general benefit to the area they would serve," he said. "Of course they will have to wait."

Sen. Cotton (R-NH), a member of the Senate Public Works Committee, said the President "is to be commended for his courage and forthrightness." The veto, Cotton said, is "realistic, down-to-earth."

The Republican said at the current rate of construction it would require 25 years and five billion dollars to complete projects already authorized in the past.

Fact
The President cited the fact that since funds have not been appropriated for projects in the bill, the next Congress can reconsider provisions of the measure.

"So my action on the bill need cause no delay in starting the many worthwhile projects in the bill," the President added. Congress will have to struggle with another authorization measure, however.

Eisenhower said under the law, before the army engineers recommend to Congress authorization of a project, the states concerned should have an opportunity to comment on the proposal.

McGlinchey Denies Any Participation In Construction Of Tobyhanna Signal Depot

SCRANTON—Denying he ever had "anything to do" with the Tobyhanna Signal Depot, a former Congressman yesterday attributed a "cheap political trick" as the reason he was subpoenaed as a witness in the government's investigation of "excessive costs" at the local Army installation.

Van Why Awaits Results Of Sanity Hearing

MILFORD—Results of a sanity hearing will determine whether a 13-year-old slaying suspect will go on trial for murder in Pike County Court the third week of September.

James Van Why, a former seventh grade pupil at East Stroudsburg Junior High School, was indicted by a grand jury May 21 of slaying Edward Ebele, 48, of Dingman's Ferry, and critically wounding his wife, Margaret, 46. The shootings occurred April 30.

District Attorney Clifton A. Cloud indicated he will seek a first degree murder verdict—but not the death penalty—unless a court-appointed sanity commission adjudges him insane.

Van Why underwent a day-long sanity examination Wednesday in the courthouse here. A decision is expected to be handed down within 10 days by the commission, composed of Drs. Harvey Klear and G. V. Emerson, and Atty. Dorothy Stroh Tidale, all of Milford.

The commission was given a report of findings of psychiatrists at Farview State Hospital, who conducted an earlier examination. Another series of mental tests were conducted by the noted Philadelphia psychiatrist, Dr. Harold Dillon, whose findings will be introduced at the trial.

The boy is accused of pumping four .22 caliber rifle shells into the head of Ebele, when ordered from the victim's property. He also is charged with firing two shots at Mrs. Ebele, who lingered between life and death for some time, but has since recovered.

On May 19, he created another sensation by escaping from the Pike County Jail. He surrendered six hours later, after allegedly stealing a quantity of guns, ammunition, and food.

Tradition Continues As Harriman Invades Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman of New York flew into town today, and the Democrats gave an honored political tradition a mild workout.

The tradition is that a covey of backers should meet each candidate at airport or railway station.

When he steps out, they holler and cheer and wave, thereby proving, of course, that their hero is best fitted to lead this nation.

So today Harriman backers were out to welcome their man, and though the demonstration was not much by past standards—no brass bands, for instance—it did keep a tradition alive.

Shortly before Harriman's plane dropped down, a stage director hustled up and surveyed his cast of 50 or so. Each person had a standard bearing such admonitions as "Win with Harriman" or "Harriman's Our Man."

Appearance
Curiously for a candidate who has been in the race as long as Harriman, the signs were crudely lettered with crayons, as if somebody had goofed and it had taken fast handwork to produce any signs at all.

"Hold your banners up," yelled the stage director. "Will you hold your banners up, everybody?"

(As in a hayloft fire, political spontaneous combustion always is helped along if you sprinkle liberally with kerosene.)

"Wave, everybody!" said the S. D. "Yell!"

Whether or not he was satisfied with this brief workout wasn't clear, because the plane came in then, airline officials hastily rolled out the red carpet they save for these great occasions, and Harriman stepped out.

Banners went up, and the waves and cheers rolled out on schedule. Harriman came down the ramp, answered a few questions routinely, and reminded reporters he had a news conference planned soon.

"I'm not going to give you any scoops here," he said. "And he didn't."

This demonstration has been gone into in some detail only because it represents such a change from four years ago. In 1952, candidates at both the Democratic and Republican conventions poured into Chicago every hour on the hour.

Each was welcomed with varying degrees of frenzy, some of which was genuine and some simulated.

But whether real or somewhat phoney, they did point up the thrill of a wide open race, with a number of candidates running for their political lives.

But so far this year there has been little to equal the excitement, or the foolishness, of four years ago.

Ike's Bandwagon Departs For San Francisco

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Eisenhower bandwagon started rolling today.

The first of a fleet of six brightly decorated 15-ton trailer trucks which will tour the country during the presidential campaign left for San Francisco and the Republican convention which is expected to nominate President Eisenhower.

The bandwagons, all equipped for rallies and parades, are being sponsored by the National Citizens for Eisenhower Committee.

The time.
"I don't know what I'm ducking," he continued. "I don't know what I'm here for."

McGlinchey claimed he knows nothing about the Tobyhanna Depot, said he did not have—in any manner—any business dealings with any one associated with the $33-million project.

However, he admitted he regarded John F. Gliby, Jr., of Waverly, as a personal friend. Gliby's engineering firm held a major contract in the project.

THE CONTENT of Prayer" will be the subject presented by the Rev. P. N. Wohlson, D.D., pastor at St. John's Lutheran Church tomorrow morning at 11.

At this service Erich Stabenow will serve as acolyte and Edward Steinhauer, Richard Frobenberg, Willard Kintz Jr. and Parke W. Kunkle will serve as ushers while the nursery for pre-school age children will be handled by Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Fisher from 10:30 a.m.

The altar flowers will be placed by Mrs. Frank Wilson as a memorial to her husband.

Richard Lindroth, volunteer, announces a program of singing by the senior choir with Miss Ruth Fetherman, assistant organist, presiding at the organ.

Many resort visitors have been attending the services in St. John's. Last Lord's Day 21 different communities were registered among the guests who worshipped here. The vespers have been dispensed with for the summer months.

Church School
Session of the church school will be conducted at 9:45 a.m. with Fredenberg, the superintendent, in charge. Three electric clocks have been installed in the several departments of the church school by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Fisher as memorials to their mother, Mrs. Mayme Fisher, who taught for many years.

Empty fruit jars are now available in the hall to the rear of the church school. Members are asked to secure them and fill them with canned fruits or vegetables which will be sent to the Lutheran Orphan Home in Germantown, Philadelphia.

Picnic To Be Held Over
BUSHKILL—Mrs. Edith O'Hara, producer at Bushkill Summer Theater, announced last night that "Picnic" has been extended to run through next week.

Beginning next week, however, the leading role will be done by Bob Hale, an Allentown actor who has appeared earlier this season with the Guthrie theatre. Hale replaces James Mitchell who is leaving to fulfill other commitments.

Mrs. O'Hara said response to the William Inge play has been "very good" during its first week and it is being "held over" so that other persons will have a chance to see it.

SECURITY

Security is everyone's byword in this era of tension, anxiety, and bristling competition. It's the goal of government, industry, business, family, and nations.

Security generally means being sure of something, or even someone. But, no one gets security without giving. It is not self-accomplished. Other people and factors contribute in providing our security.

Above all, God alone is the source of security and serenity. Society cancels out our security with finality when we run afoul of its standards, whereas God endows us with the privilege of obtaining forgiveness and mending our ways.

How secure are we against the disasters and perils of life and against our own imperfections? To find the answer, turn to God's Church where we will find the fountain of security.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

East Stroudsburg Council Should Settle Controversy Over Thruway

A wrangle over the East Stroudsburg section of the proposed Thruway presents a very serious threat to the entire $10,000,000 project and should be resolved immediately.

The East Stroudsburg Merchants Association, which claims to have the backing of more than 95 per cent of the inhabitants of the borough, is supporting the Thruway route recommended to the State Highway Department by the engineering firm of Gannett, Fleming, Corddry and Carpenter, Inc.

This plan calls for an interchange at Prospect St. and another at Minisink Hills.

A minority group representing residents of the E. Brown St. area has expressed loud opposition to the Prospect St. connection, where ramps leading to the Thruway would cut behind a number of properties on Brown St. and necessitate the razing of three houses near the Prospect Cemetery entrance.

State Highway officials have expressed the belief that the plan recommended by the consulting engineers is the "best line" through the borough and warned that any change could delay construction indefinitely.

Since the principal reason for the Thruway is to relieve the severe traffic congestion problem that exists in the Stroudsburgs, it is imperative that the plan which will provide the greatest benefits to the largest number of people be adopted while the Highway Department is still interested in the project.

Continuation of the present wrangle will likely lead to the state shelving the whole Thruway idea and earmarking the $10,000,000 for some other section of Pennsylvania.

We cannot afford to let that happen. It is very vital that something be done, without delay, to bring about a solution to the traffic problem in the two boroughs. In the long-range view, this rates top consideration above everything else.

Even so, sight should not be lost of the fact the expenditure of $10,000,000 in this area would prove a substantial boon to wage-earners and business alike. Loss of the Thruway would, therefore, mean a double setback to the community since no traffic relief would be provided and no new jobs created.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that East Stroudsburg Council will take a definite stand favoring the recommended Thruway route when it meets Tuesday night to consider the matter. The fate of the whole project turns on council's decision.

Both Parties Would Do Well To View Suez Crisis From National Viewpoint

The Suez crisis may reach a climax while the United States is totally absorbed in the nomination of presidential candidates. Nothing short of a shooting war will deflect public concentration on the political conventions for the rest of this month.

This is an unfortunate coincidence. Events can occur in the coming weeks which will be of far greater importance to this nation than the naming of the candidates—especially since there is little doubt about who they will be.

Therefore, a very special responsibility rests on the political leaders at Chicago and San Francisco—a responsibility to avoid either word or deed that will agitate the very delicate Suez controversy and its threat of war.

This will require leadership of high quality, because it is in our best traditions to discuss publicly all issues—a freedom that must not be forfeited.

In 1948 both parties disgracefully tried to outbid each other for the favor of the pro-Israel vote with little regard to national consequences. The United States still is paying dearly for that.

The Suez crisis makes avoidance of the 1948 kind of politicking imperative.

Both Democratic and Republican leaders could take the first necessary step at the conventions. It has been the custom of both parties to include in the foreign policy section of their platforms a reference to the Middle East—usually with respect to Israel. Such planks primarily were aimed at wooing the pro-Israel vote.

We may be asking for the moon. But we earnestly appeal to the guiding statesmen of both parties to omit such planks this year. Events at Suez well may outdistance anything the politicians can write or promise.

By all means, let the nation discuss the Middle East crisis—but on the basis of what is in the national rather than only party interest.

Politicians talk piously about bipartisanship in foreign policy. Here is a chance to prove it.

Now, if ever, political party leaders must show that they put the future of the country above the future of the party.

George Sokolsky Says...

Adults Who Withhold God's Moral Laws Responsible For Juvenile Delinquency Rise

J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI recently said on a broadcast, "A criminal is not born—a criminal is made."

Except for the very few who are idiots or morons, because of damage to the brain, most children would grow up whole some members of society, if they were not corrupted in the years of their upbringing.

The Board of Education of New York City is facing precisely this problem and is having a tough time of it because of the multi-religious character of the city's population and the competition among the various religious groups.

In 1951, the New York State Board of Regents adopted a "Statement of Moral and Spiritual Training in the Schools." In 1953, the New York City Board of Education passed two resolutions on this subject, one of which required each day to begin with the "Pledge of Allegiance" and the singing of the fourth stanza of "America." When I read this resolution, I was shocked because when I went to New York City's public schools we always started the day with the "Pledge of Allegiance." It never occurred to me that anybody would have had the temerity to drop this essential affirmation of belonging and of loyalty.

The other resolution had to do with "...insuring that such curriculum includes appropriate programs of instruction emphasizing the spiritual interest and patriotic motivations of our pioneering ancestors, the devotion and self-sacrifice of the Founding Fathers and their abiding belief in the principles of democracy."

In the document on this subject, issued July, 1956, the statement is made that "Religious education and training are not functions of state-supported schools. Religious education and training are the exclusive responsibility of the home, church and synagogue..."

This is stated with too much finality, although in New York those who must face every municipal function as a political problem, nothing else can be said. But parents have to view the question differently. The child spends five or six hours a day at school and sometimes many more. It is inconceivable that during those many hours, the child should be altogether without religious education, without moral teachings, without ethical precepts. The fear of one religious group that another might be more attractive or present its case more attractively does not take into consideration the welfare of the child but rather the numerical strength of its votaries. So, the statement says:

"...It is neither a function nor a prerogative of the public schools to teach religion or to indoctrinate pupils with the tenets, doctrines or dogmas of any religion, of any sect, or of secularism. This is a simple reaffirmation of a prized and basic characteristic of America's legal and constitutional heritage."

But it has been the prized and fundamental characteristic of America's legal and constitutional heritage to teach religion and a morality based on religion in our schools. All one needs to do is to read the early school readers of this country or to take the McGuffey Readers which strengthened the characters of millions of Americans at the time of this nation's greatest period of upbuilding. No one taught anything sectarian; they taught religion. Nobody used the school to proselytize; they taught God and His law of life.

J. Edgar Hoover has stated the results of the change of attitude: "Now as to the seriousness of the problem, I think I can point out to you that in 1955 one out of every 35 youths between the ages of 10 and 17 was arrested. Five hundred seventy-six thousand persons under the age of 18 were taken into custody in the United States. This happens to be an increase of 11 per cent over the previous calendar year. At the present time the record shows that 42 per cent of all persons arrested for major crimes are persons under the age of 18, and of that number, more than one-half are under the age of 15."

These are the cold facts of our society in which sectarianism has taken the place of religion, politics the place of morality, materialism the place of God. The increase in juvenile delinquency can only convict the adults who corrupt their own children by withholding from them God's gift of moral law which alone can guide human beings, of whatever faith, to the moral life. Human experience has established that for it there is no substitute.

Illinois' state museum's traveling "museummobile" has just completed a tour of 53 counties and 188 communities. Today kids find it impossible to escape an education—it tracks 'em down!

One of the reasons Illinois' traveling museum is unique is that nobody thought to tack the syllable "rama" on the end of it.

Statistics show that women today spend money faster than did their grandmothers. It's the men's fault—why did they put

To the Editor
Daily Record
Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania
Dear Sir:

There appeared August 2nd in your "Letters to the Editor" section a letter from A. W. Koster, signing as Secretary, East Stroudsburg Merchants Association. He did not state whether his letter was the result of formal action by the Association.

Our group is small compared to the total population of East Stroudsburg is true, but when compared to the number of members in the Merchants' Association it is not true, inasmuch as we outnumber their membership several times. Reference is made to the article in The Daily Record February 23 concerning a meeting, when the number of citizens present and approving our course of action and plan was reported as "between 75 and 90."

As to the statement Koster made that "what is the best interest of the Borough cannot be stated factually by a small group of citizens residing in one small area, who may be thinking too much of their own property rather than what will benefit the entire area", the favorable reception and serious attention given to the points presented in a recent meeting with State Highway authorities at Harrisburg would seem to indicate that we have done some very constructive thinking on the subject.

At the very beginning of our consideration of this problem, brought about by our natural concern over the unnecessary destruction of homes and property values in our section, we fully realized that we would have no rebuttal at all if we could not present an alternative plan which would be better in every respect than the plan we oppose. This, we are confident we have accomplished and are ready to demonstrate it with facts and figures.

The same cannot be said by the group most active in opposing the elimination of an interchange at Prospect Street. They merely state it is necessary, but offer no supporting reasons other than the old, out-moded, and many times disproved contention that crowded streets and traffic jams are necessary so merchants may get more business. Nothing could be more fallacious.

Our thinking and analyses of the problems involved therefore, has been confined to the one objective of procuring for the borough of East Stroudsburg the maximum value out of the proposed by-pass or thru-way. We do not believe that dumping 5,500 cars and heavy trucks from an interchange on such a highway into Prospect and East Brown Streets, and compelling them to wind through various narrow and essentially residential streets, not constructed for such a traffic load, is for the best interests of any group, including the merchants. It should be remembered that the Borough will have the financial responsibility of maintaining most of these streets, and that will affect every citizen's pocketbook.

Our group strongly maintains that a suitable arrangement of interchange design and location is readily available which will provide for the following:

1. Proper by-passing of thru-traffic without loss of any revenue to merchants.
2. Provide several points of entrance for all traffic for the Borough proper. Thus reducing the unreasonable 5,500 car congestion previously mentioned to reasonable levels at each of these several points, which will lead most directly to travelers' planned destinations.
3. Provide a clear-cut truck route for the incoming and outgoing trucks direct to the industrial area to the north of the Borough, without travelling over residential streets all the way from the southern end of town. This route will also provide for trucks destined for business places in the center of town, thus relieving traffic congestion which now exists.

Our group is of the opinion that when those organizations which have perhaps hastily approved a scheme, the details of which they know practically nothing, consider the basic facts and motivating circumstances, they will have a different view of the entire situation.

We do not believe we are incorrect in our contention that we have given more positive and constructive study to this problem and its effects on our Borough as a whole, than any organization which may have been pressured into making hasty approval without adequate study. The recent action of the Pocono Auto Club in seeking more data on the project may be only a beginning, and ultimately produce very revealing factors and circumstances.

With respect to the futile argument advanced from one source that we should not be so concerned about the safety hazard to our children, caused by the passing of such a large volume of traffic past the Training School and the Parochial School while there is such heavy traffic passing the school on North Courtland Street, we respectfully point out that our proposed plan will materially reduce such traffic at the High School and eliminate almost entirely large truck traffic from that picture. Furthermore, two wrongs never did make a single right, and because an undesirable situation now exists at one point in the Borough is no logical reason for creating or condoning another similar undesirable situation, with its ever attendant safety hazards to life and limb.

Very Truly yours
Arthur M. Troegner

Harriman Irks Truman Over Attempt To Woo Kefauver

Chicago, August 10—A sour note has developed in Harry S. Truman's ardor for Governor Averell Harriman.

The Tennessee is persona non grata to Truman for any place on the ticket.

This was made bluntly clear to Harriman in a talk he had with Truman last month. Now Truman has learned that, notwithstanding this, Harriman the following week proposed a tie-up with Kefauver.

This inside information has irked Truman, and it's playing a part in his firm refusal to publicly declare for the New York Governor.

Every effort and will has been exerted by Harriman and his managers to persuade Truman to come out for him. But he has kept his silence. He still prefers Harriman to Adlai Stevenson, but not as enthusiastically as earlier. Truman's zeal has cooled considerably.

Reason the former President is miffed at Harriman over his under-cover overtures to Kefauver is as follows:

In his discussion with Harriman, Truman was very emphatic about his opposition to Kefauver. In addition to berating the Tennessee, Truman flatly asserted he was against him for any place on the Democratic ticket.

Harriman fully agreed with Truman on that attitude.

This approval not only drew a cordial response from Truman, but he added he had not been able to get it from Stevenson. Truman has been told that within a week after his "meeting of the minds" with Harriman on Kefauver, the former sought an alliance with the Tennessee. This was done through two emissaries of the New York Governor.

Harriman's proposition—They were Judge Sam Rosenman, biographer and adviser of the late President Roosevelt, and George Backer, wealthy New York realtor.

They first sought a meeting with Kefauver personally. He declined on the ground that he would lay him open to the charge of "making secret deals." Instead, Kefauver suggested the two Harriman leaders talk with "Jiggs" Donohue, Kefauver's national manager. They did that, and had a long discussion.

Backer and Rosenman proposed a Harriman-Kefauver alliance aimed at stopping Stevenson, and basing such a blitz primarily on a militant civil rights plank.

It was strongly inferred to Donohue that Truman favored this.

The two Harriman spokesmen made no direct offer to back Kefauver for running mate. But that inference was unmistakable. They also made two specific propositions: (1) Donohue to be Democratic National Chairman in the event Harriman won the presidential nomination; and (2) Kefauver's sizable primary debts would be taken care of.

Letters Make Suez Canal Issue Closer

By Jim Riley

Dr. and Mrs. William B. Towse, East Stroudsburg, are probably following the Suez Canal situation a little more closely than most anyone else.

Their daughter, Carolyn, her husband and children are currently living in Egypt and are in a front row seat for the spectacle.

Carolyn writes home often and the Towses are getting added enjoyment from the messages in recent weeks.

Of late the letters have been postmarked from countries neighboring Egypt.

Rev. Arthur Henderson, a retired minister and printer who was well known in Monroe County, celebrated his 90th birthday yesterday.

It was a quiet celebration at the Union Point Home, Colorado Springs, Col., where he now lives.

Rev. Henderson worked at Hughes Printing Co. for many years.

John O'Connor, a representative of the Blind Artists, a musical unit that will present a concert here in the near future, is currently a guest at the Indian Queen Hotel.

O'Connor is amazing people at the local hotel by the manner in which he navigates despite his loss of sight.

N. Y. Confidential —By Lee Mortimer

Around the World. But Not Confidential: Sherman Douglas absolutely refused to be photographed with actor Jack Lemmon at Lolly Parson's birthday party in London... Merle Oberon told French reporters she's finished with Hollywood because it has become a "dead city." She's in Nice to spend a fortnight (pronounced "fortnit") vacation with Charlie Chaplin and his family. (Good-bye, Merle)... The government of Lebanon banned "Around the World Confidential" which is interesting at that, considering a couple of Lebanese Sure General agents recently got off with $31,000 after being seized with hundreds of thousands worth of heroin. Their interests (according to the Lebanon underworld), were seen to by the Attorney General and the President of the Council of Ministers.

Six Other
Appointments
Made Public

TRUSTEES of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College have filled seven important administrative and faculty posts.

Appointments must be approved by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction before they become final.

The following posts were filled this week at a trustees meeting presided over by Dr. Floyd Shafer, board president:

Dr. Francis McGarry, dean of instruction; Dr. Theodore Moore, director of admissions; Dr. Dawson E. Lemley, West Chester, supervisor of elementary education and associate professor of education; John R. Eiler, assistant dean of men and associate professor of health and physical education; B. Richard Rutkowski, instructor of art for one-year term; Mrs. Washburn Flister, Scitola, supervisor of women in the temporary dormitory at the Indian Queen Hotel, and Mrs. Kathleen Louise Altomose, Stroudsburg, domestic supervision of college buildings and the Indian Queen.

Announcement
In announcing the appointments, Dr. LeRoy Koehler, college president, noted that one marked change has been made in the administrative set-up at the college.

This lies in the allocation of duties formerly vested in the Dean of Instruction alone. Because of the multiplicity of duties, Dr. Koehler said, the functions of the office have now been delegated to two men.

Dr. Moore, who served as acting president of the college following the resignation of Dr. Joseph F. Noonan, was formerly in charge of all the duties. Moore now becomes director of admissions, a new title at the college.

Dr. McGarry is now head of the college education department. As the new Dean of Instruction he will be in charge of administering instructional policies at the college.

Dr. Lemley has been a teacher at West Chester State Teachers College and in Oswego, N. Y., prior to his local appointment. He replaces Mrs. Pauline Peterson, Mrs. Peterson resigned as elementary supervisor at the college to accept a similar post with East Stroudsburg Area Joint School System.

Eiler has been dean of men at Slippery Rock State Teachers College. He is also an administrator of a summer colony near Saylorsburg.

Supervisor
Mrs. Flister will serve as supervisor for the estimated 70 girls who are to be tentatively housed in the Indian Queen Hotel in Stroudsburg. The hotel will be leased for the second year by the college due to lack of adequate dormitory space for women on campus. Recently the General State Authority, through the decision of Gov. George M. Leader, allocated funds for construction of a new women's dormitory on the local campus, however.

Mrs. Altomose—wife of Monroe County sheriff and Democratic party chairman Jacob F. Altomose—will be in complete charge of supervision of college buildings in domestic matters.

Trustees attending Thursday night's meeting were: Dr. Shafer; Robert Harrier, Pen Argyl; Patrick J. Connors, Old Forge; Clyde Shafer, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Kathryn Edwards, Stroudsburg, and Rev. John Bergstresser, Hamilton Township.

Eight In Marine Corps

SIX STROUDSBURG men, and two others from the area, are now undergoing basic training with the Marine Corps at Parris Island, S. C. They are Lloyd E. Bentzoni, 610 Fulmer Ave.; Walter Boggess, Jr., 759 Main St.; Willard R. Hazen, 1159 W. Main St.; Robert E. Phillips, 1118 Greenway Ave.; James A. Somers, 835 Grove St., and Donald R. Setzer, 70 Second St.

Parris Island
Thomas T. Thomas of Gouldsboro, RD, and Paul P. Wash, Tobyhanna, RD, also are undergoing training at Parris Island.

After completion of three months basic instruction, the local Marines will be transferred to posts and stations throughout the United States.

State Police Continue Search For People Responsible For Theft At South Sterling

SOUTH STERLING—State police last night continued their search for the thief (or thieves) who took $300 cash and $700 in checks in a daring daylight robbery here Tuesday afternoon.

State Trooper John W. Noel said last night the robbery occurred at the home of Walter E. Steiger, local fuel oil dealer. Entrance to the house was made through a rear door, Noel said.

Troopers said that the thief risked triple danger in making the break-in. The Steiger home is easily visible from all sides. One house is located to one side at a distance of only about 50 feet; a second is on the other side, within 75 feet.

A third house—about 200 feet to the rear of the Steiger home—gives a clear and unhampered view of the field through which the thief would have to pass in approaching the rear of the house.

Once inside the house, Noel said, the thief took $300 cash and checks totaling $700 in value from an unlocked drawer in a desk in Steiger's office. The robbery occurred between 1 and 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Trooper Noel said Honesdale State police are now following leads on "three or four possible suspects." Local residents said the robbery was the most brazen theft in the history of this area.

Steiger's office and central operations are carried out in South Sterling. He maintains a fuel oil bulk plant in Mountainhome.

Three Artists
Showing Work
At Gallery

By Cecelia Hade Brooks
THREE ARTISTS of national note are currently exhibiting their work at the Gallery Art Club which is located over the Famous Store in East Stroudsburg.

They are our own J. Havard Macpherson and Ada Kasario Cecere, painters, and Gaetano Cecere, the sculptor.

These three represent a wide variety in feeling and emphasis in the art scene of today.

Gaetano Cecere, for example, has work representing the traditional, more representative art in such of his things as the figures of "Charlotte" and "Eros and Stig." These indicate a thorough knowledge of fundamentals which too few of our sculptors today possess.

He has, in addition, work of a modern classic style which reveal great feeling and sensitivity of line and form. "Seated Figure," "Youth" and "Sisters" illustrate this admirably. In his head of "Rima" there is deep awareness of inner beauty which carries the work beyond mere technical representation and into the realm of fine sculpture.

In the still lifes of Ada Cecere there is strength and boldness of color and design that are very refreshing. There is daring use of the palette knife to create textural effects and an increased range of light and shadow. "Pike County Bouquet" and "Spring Light" are examples.

Her head, "The Vestal," is so sensitively done that the pathos inherent in the girl's mood reaches out to the observer.

Mrs. Cecere has also done many commissioned works. Her winning design in the Treasury Department national competition was beautifully executed in sand-carved glass by David Harrington. It is in the dining salon of the S. S. President Jackson.

The work of Macpherson arrives at impressive stature another way. His is a combination of powerful line and muted color, subtly used. The result is strength. In concept and in the execution of his compositions he demonstrates great technical ability.

Out of this subtly he develops moods and an atmospheric quality all his own. One peers through his mist, trying to penetrate behind it, as in "Lifting Fog." His trees have majesty, a strength that grows from deep in the earth, up and outward. One wants to walk into his pictures and touch the trunk of "Old Chestnut" or the twisting growth of "Banyan Tree."

The Daily Record Tour Guide

A weekly feature of places to go and things to see in the beautiful Pocono Mountains area.

The Active Life...

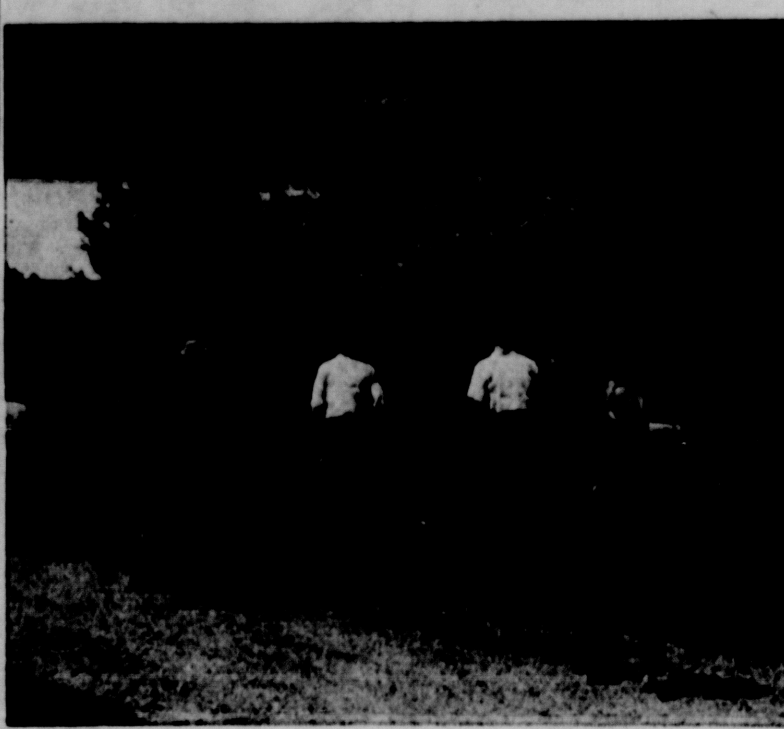

INTERNATIONALLY FAMOUS Golfing Celebrities are regular players on some of the Poconos' Championship courses. One of them (Shawnee Inn) advertises itself as "The East's Summer Golf Capital." Golf courses open to the public include Fernwood at Bushkill, Indian Mountain in Kresgeville, Megargels in Mt. Pocono.

Game Lands In Poconos

Comprising more than 21,500 acres in Tobyhanna and Coolbaugh Townships in Monroe County, this public area encompasses a vast wilderness region West of the Lackawanna Trail (Route 611) at Tobyhanna and extending almost to Route 940 at Pocono Lake. It includes the large and well-stocked Brady's Lake and about four miles of the Tobyhanna Creek, above Pocono Lake.

Surveys have shown that this tract has, in its woodlands, practically every species of wildlife native to Pennsylvania: Black bear, deer, red and grey fox, wild cat, hares and rabbits, mink, beaver, grouse and even the rare wild turkey, to mention a few.

The two-and-a-half mile long, 210-acre Brady's Lake is stocked with black bass, perch, catfish and bluegills. Fishing is permitted and boats may be placed on its waters by registering with the Game Protector in charge. It may be reached by road from Highway 940, about ¼ mile west of Pocono Lake.

DUDE RANCHES and some resorts maintain horses for their guests. Horses for public hire are available in Kunkletown, Paradise Valley, Delaware Water Gap, Dingmans Ferry, Mt. Pocono, Mountainhome, and Echo Lake.

BOATING is a recreation that can be enjoyed by even the neophyte on the calm mountain lakes. Canoes and boats may be rented at Long Pond, Naomi Lake, Peck's Landing, Promised Land Lake, Wallenpaupack, and most lakes.

THE KIDS WILL LOVE THE ANIMALS—Although most indigenous animals, like these "jack-lighted" deer are now grazing on mountain tops, such places as the Wild Animal Farm—where you can pet the tame wild animals—and Al Cox's Bear Stop—where from Alt. 611 you can see animals, provides countless delights for the small fry.

Public Trout Streams

The biggest boon to fishermen this year was the extension of trout season into fall. Licenses for those over 16 may be obtained from a sporting goods store. The numerous hatcheries and regular stocking helps the Poconos to keep their nationally known reputation as a great fishing area. Monroe County fish warden is Floyd Bachman, 49 Broad St., Stroudsburg.

Pocono Mountains Vacation

IF YOU'VE ever hankered to cast a line into a deep secluded pool where you know there's a big one... if a thrill of excitement ricochets through your veins when you sight game in a forest retreat or beside a highway... if the thought of pine-roasted pheasant raises the taste buds on the tip of your tongue... if these joys of living are fond wishes in your vacationland hope chest... you'll love these Pocono Mountains.

Here are a million acres of scenic beauty—rugged wooded mountains, quiet sunlit valleys; tree-trimmed lakes, rushing streams and tumbling waterfalls; verdant forests and game lands—this mountain setting is an irresistible lode-stone for outdoorsmen... old timer or tender-foot.

The sport of fishing comes in all shapes and sizes. If you are a fly enthusiast, the trout of the streams... browns, brooks, and rainbows will test your rod to the breaking point. If you love a prize catch, pike, lake trout, or bass may be your cherished target.

This phantasyland possesses some of the finest hunting territory yet unspoiled, and the thousands of acres of state game land makes sure it will stay that way.

There are many establishments catering to hunting and fishing parties from the spring to the late fall of the year, but the true test of a sporting holiday comes at the end of the day, when the soft sounds of approaching night place workaday cares in another world.

Ann Logan Hospital Society Board Prepares For Year; Card Party At Manor Aug. 28

The Ann Logan Society of the General Hospital, through its board, organized this week for a new year of activity ahead. The board was entertained by the new president, Mrs. Thomas L. Metzgar, on Tuesday night at her home on Club Court.

Of first concern was the second big Summer card party, scheduled for Pocono Manor on August 28 at 2 p. m. Mrs. Elwood Hintze and Mrs. Nelson Westbrook are co-chairmen of the party which is open to the public with a dollar donation requested. Further information regarding tickets or transportation may be obtained from Mrs. Hintze, tel. 2067-J-4. There will be table prizes, door prizes and refreshments.

Cake and Calendars

The board also discussed two other major projects sponsored annually by the auxiliary for the benefit of the General Hospital: the Ann Logan Birthday and Meeting Calendar, and the fruit cake sale.

Holiday fruit cakes will be baked the week of November 12 at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church with Mrs. James Coleman as chairman of the committee, and Mrs. Merle C. Ostrom and Mrs. Russell Harmon, co-chairmen.

Names for the birthday calendar should be turned in at the first meeting of the auxiliary to be held September 10 at 8 p. m. in the ladies lounge of the YMCA. Mrs. John Stanford is chairman of the advertising for the calendar; Mrs. C. B. Altomose of collecting birthday names, with Mrs. Glenn Lowry, Mrs. Milo Kresge and Mrs. Arthur Stackhouse assisting her. Mrs. Maxwell Cohen is in charge of the listings for regular meetings of any organization which

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

It may be an atavistic instinct left over from our cave men days, this feeling that we should have a rock or a tree or a wall to protect at least one flank. You just watch: the center tables in a restaurant go begging while the side tables fill up immediately. The front rows in church are only filled when there's no other place to sit.

Whatever the explanation, I have the same sort of uneasy feeling with the social page on an outside rather than an inside page. Regrettably, I held out the picture of the stock shower, and that intimate bit of gossip dribbled out before it hit the type-writer.

Generalities only on the back page. Like the observation that it wasn't to protect their flank but to get out of the sun that both northbound and southbound pedestrian traffic hugged the walls yesterday afternoon with the result that there was a lot of dodging back and forth to avoid head-on collisions.

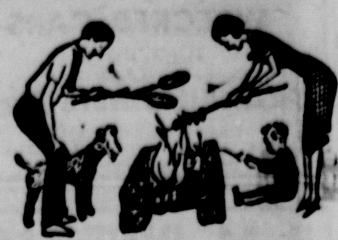

Like rummage sales and card parties and family picnics and political meetings. And speaking of politics, that's about all a lot of people will be speaking about these next few weeks. So you'd better plan to do the ironing by the television set, save up the darning and let the upstairs cleaning and gardening go.

If we don't have the best informed electorate in history it's not going to be the fault of television or The Daily Record. The only danger is that the line between information and opinion is so slight that differing political emotions might well blow up the television set and the Daily Record editorial staff when things get really going.

Brownie Planning Group Outlines Year's Activities

The Brownie Planning Committee of the Girl Scout Council of Monroe County has outlined activities for the coming year at a meeting held Thursday afternoon at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Frederick Dent.

A Play Day for May, song-of-the-month which all troops will learn; community service, and selected lists of speakers and places to visit are among the major plans of the group.

The Play Day was tentatively set for the third Saturday in May, and each leader will be given a list of suggestions so that the Brownies can help to select what they would most like to do.

All Brownies will learn the same song each month with the leaders receiving instructions on the songs at the Leaders' Club meetings. Uniform opening and closing ceremonies will also be distributed to the leaders.

The planning committee also decided that delivering posters for the various welfare drives would be the form which Brownies render community service this year.

The committee plans to draw up a list of program ideas, interesting places to visit, and speakers available for troop programs. Anyone interested in birds, trees, or flowers who would be willing to speak is asked to call Mrs. Frederick Dent, 2651-W as soon as possible so that the list may be ready in September.

The group also decided to distribute parent permission slips and council permission slips for trips which troops plan outside of their own meeting area.

The county has been divided into various areas, and members of the planning committee will assist the troops in their own area: Mrs. Michael Bridge for Barrett, Mount Pocono and Paradise; Mrs. Robert Feitig, Hamilton and Brodheadsville; Mrs. Russell Harmon, Stroudsburg and Clearview; Mrs. Fred Miller, East Stroudsburg, Shawnee, Marshalls Creek and Water Gap.

Had Queen Elizabeth been arriving in Stroudsburg this past Wednesday, there could not possibly have been more excitement in our store's publicity offices than was created by the visit of Miss Pennsylvania. There were a million and one little details to be taken care of, including the setting up of a time table, the scheduling of a radio engineer and photographers, the decorating of a Key to the Poconos, the ordering of corsages, the planning of a luncheon, selection of a gift, and the filling of every minute until four o'clock, when she would be whisked away to Shawnee Inn, and thence to High Point Inn. There was only one big difference . . . if Queen Elizabeth had come, we should have brushed up on our curtsying. With Lorna Ringer only a firm handshake was necessary, and she returned it with an equally firm, warm grip.

Since coming to Wyckoff's five years ago, I've seen celebrities of all degrees and stature, and I've come to one major conclusion—it isn't easy to be one. It's pretty nerve-wracking, I would say, to know that you are in the glare of a pitiless spotlight, intensified by the thousands of eyes focused upon you. It must be rugged to hear strangers on every side whispering about your hairdo . . . your choice of clothes and your figure . . . or having them dash up while you're in the middle of raising your fork to your mouth, to demand an autograph. If you can come through with a smile that never grows stale . . . if you can manage to rush from airport, to luncheon, to broadcast, to press interviews, to dinner, to dance, and finally to bed without having lost your good humor or an ounce of your charm, then you have something that ninety-nine per cent of us (whatever our personal appearance may be) most certainly lack.

Lorna Ringer has this certain something. So did her predecessor, Pam Ulrich. So did Barbara Sue Nager the previous year. All three girls also possess a liberal knowledge of how to display their beauty to the best advantage. Without being at all unnatural or affected, they instinctively fall into a pose whenever a camera is leveled in their direction . . . and they seem to sense just how to tilt their chins, shade their eyes, and smile. A hundred girls with the very same perfection of feature would fall short on this score, lacking that certain indefinable "something" that spells the difference between a "Miss Somebody" and just a somebody.

Lorna dresses quietly for traveling, and does not show her figure to its utmost . . . but she's a perfect size 12, and wondering how long she'll remain that way with everyone serving her Pennsylvania's finest dairy products in the form of whipped cream, ice cream, and such. Her hair is worn in a carefree Italian cut that is attractive even when she steps, wind tossed, from a convertible. She even looks nice with a shiny nose, which she had when she stepped from our store plane. It's to her credit that, in all my hours with her, I didn't once see her peek into a mirror. When you're beautiful, you can get away with this indifference.

Studying tap dancing and ballet undoubtedly contributed to her 125 lb. perfection, but her contest-winning talent was her singing of popular songs—"Mr. Wonderful" and "It's Wonderful". Her eyes are her most amazing feature. They are truly gorgeous . . . a clear, light, sapphire blue fringed with long lashes deepened in color by carefully applied mascara. Lorna's beauty secrets are simple and inexpensive. She uses soap and water lavishly each night followed by Noxema "because it's medicated and feels so refreshing." In the morning she uses soap and water again, rubs in Jergens lotion, and applies a light pancake makeup, rouge and lipstick. That's all there is to it . . . providing you're the Kim Novak type of beauty to begin with, as Lorna is.

When she goes to the Miss America contest at Atlantic City, inside of her bathing suit she'll be wearing Eagles, presented her for luck by the Marine Air Control Squadron when she spent a day at Willow Dell Airbase. Thanks to the "Maes", Miss Pennsylvania's an honorary colonel . . . quite the cutest in the corps!

Party Unity Stressed At Dem. Meeting

Unity was the theme of the meeting of the Democratic Women's Club meeting held in the form of a picnic dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Granville Shiffer this week, with Mrs. Ella Shaw presiding.

Claude Metzgar, assistant superintendent of highways of Monroe County, as chief speaker, stressed the theme of "United we stand, divided we fall." Unity in action, whether in family life or political life, is important to progress, he said. Differences of opinion and respect for those differences are good, he said, but dissension is bad.

In discussion of the national Democratic convention which opens next week, he said that the Democratic Party has shown that it is united, while dissension and division mark the opposition.

He said that people can no longer live on a local basis but must live with people of the whole world and look at conditions from a world-wide standpoint. Metzgar praised Congressman Francis Walter as one who knows world conditions; has studied other countries and peoples, and urged that he be returned to Washington.

He also praised the work of Van D. Yetter, Representative to Harrisburg, and said that he had been successful in a great many things for Monroe County through close cooperation with Governor George Leader.

Sheriff Jacob Altomose spoke on registration, and the importance of voting in good citizenship.
